DRIVE DOWN MEMORY LANE

Hustler founder pulls plug on Hard Drive magazine.

Hard Drive, the LFP (Larry Flint Publications) entry into the adult computer magazine market, is history, both literally and figuratively.

Only five issues into its first year of publication, Hustler founder Larry Flint recently decided to cease publication of the very first adult computer magazine.

According to sources, there may have been several reasons for Flint's decision.

The first, and perhaps the most important, was that Flint wanted to concentrate his efforts, both financially and editorially, on his newest magazine, Rage.

Rage is described as Wired meets Spin meets Penthouse. One LFP insider described it as " a Generation X men's entertainment magazine with non-adult editorial and pictorials somewhere between Playboy and Penthouse." Rage will also have sections dedicated to CD-ROM reviews and new technology.

Another contributing factor to Hard Drive's early demise may have been its editorial philosophy switch from hard-core to softer material. In order to make the magazine more marketable on mainstream computer newsstands, Hard Drive changed it's editorial concept from explicit to PG-13 in the third issue.

At least one industry insider feels that the adult CD-ROM industry itself may be partially responsible for the death of the magazine.

The insider, who did not want to be identified, said that a lack of quality adult material on the market for so long may have caused a consumer backlash. There weren't any good products available so consumers lost interest.

Hard Drive made history with its debut in September 1995 as the first adult computer magazine to hit the newsstands (Historical Self Serving Note: Hard Drive and Adult PC Guide were in production at the same time. Hard Drive beat *Adult PC

CORRECT PATH NOT SPECIFIED

While no one seems to know what happened to Hard Drive executive editor Michelle Marks, there was at least one happy ending for the staff of HD. Drew Stepek, the senior editor of Hard Drive, has landed a position with MacDaddy Entertainment.

BACKED IN BLACK...& BLUE

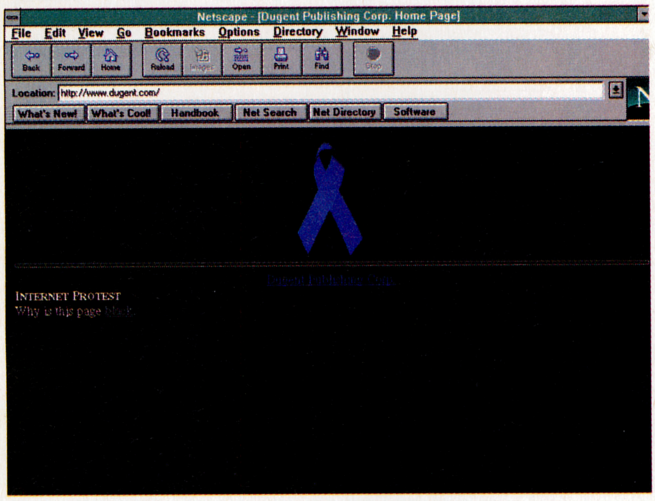
If you happened to be cruising the Internet on the day that the Communications Decency Act was passed, you know that thousands of site operators, including Dugent, protested the law by blacking out their home pages.

In case you are not a "Netizen (citizen of the Internet), the Communications Decency Act, commonly referred to as the "Com Bill," makes it a criminal offense to use the internet to "initiate the transmission of, any comment, request, suggestion, proposal, image or other communication which is obscene or indecent, knowing that the recipient of the communication is under 18-years of age regardless of whether the maker of such communication placed the call or initiated the communication."



While the Internet black-out lasted two days, a number of sites are still showing their unity against the Com Bill by displaying blue ribbons on their home pages. The blue ribbon graphic is being distributed by the Electronic Frontier Fund free of charge.

"EFF and other civil liberties groups ask that a blue ribbon be worn or displayed to show support for the essential human right of free speech," reads a section of EFF site.

"We insist that any material that's legal in bookstores, newspapers, or public libraries must be legal online."

If you are interested in adding the blue ribbon to your site or would like to become involved in fighting the Com Bill, you'll want to check out the Electronic Frontier Fund site (www.eff.org). The EFF site contains loads of information and files as well as a listing of threatened sites.

In the interest of equal time, the EFF site also provides a link to the Censor-U Movement (CUM) home page. This short-sighted area is operated by a "dedicated team of hundreds of volunteers (oddly, they're all white male christians) constantly scouring the Web looking for indecent material."

By the way, CUM has adopted the red ribbon as a symbol of support for censorship on the Net.

Vivid nets new talent, pulls plug on Internet series.

Alexis Christian.

The Vivid Video/Vivid Interactive publicity machine is working overtime these days—and with good reason. Vivid (www.vivid.com) recently increased its talent level with the signing of Madelyn Knight and Alexis Christian. Alexis was a Hustler Honey of the Year and is one of the few models to ever appear on the cover of Penthouse twice. Knight has completed work on her first project, a video co-starring Janine tentatively titled Head To Head. No information was available on redhead Madelyn Knight.

A plan to create a series of videos based on the Internet has been scrapped. The series was to be directed by award winning adult director Michael Zen and was to star all of the Vivid girls.

Az Multimedia Debuts First Adult Quad CD-ROM

Az Multimedia, based in Barcelona, Spain, has put together what could be the ultimate CyberXperience. The game, called CyberXperience, stars Dutch actress Nikie and includes more than one hour of full screen video, 3,000 scenes and loads of 3D animations. With that much material, it should come as no shock that it takes four, count 'em four, CD-ROMs to hold it all. CyberXperience is a hybrid CD-ROM (mac & PC) and the suggested retail price is $69.95. No word on a release date. For more information, see the az site at <www.ytech.fr/az>.

VCA Exposes Itself on New Site

VCA Interactive has developed a new site to complement its existing area on the Web. VCA Exposed <www.vcapix.com> is a private access area for VCA fans who can't get enough of VCA video vixens. For $9.95 a month you get access to photos of your favorite sexy celebs, video clips, phone sex and a chat area. Or you can order three months of the service for $26.85.

An Open Letter To Buttheads!

I am an adult so I feel I'm old enough to decide whether I want to view adult materials...unfortunately, the government (as well as some other buttheads) is trying to take away my right to access adult related sites. Many sites I used to go to are no longer available.

I don't know who these self-appointed buttheads are but I do not tell them what they can and cannot do, see or hear, so I feel they have no right to take away my freedom. As a Vietnam Veteran, I thought freedom was one of the things I served in the military for.
- e-mail to Adult PC Guide

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dear Veteran, We know what you mean. However, you make one mistake in your letter. You mention that some of these buttheads are "self-appointed." That's true in some cases, but some of the real buttheads are elected officials. These are the buttheads we need to concentrate on. And the best way to eliminate them is to use one of your inalienable rights and vote them out of office. If you would like to become more active in the fight against censorship you may want to visit the Electronic Frontier Fund <www.eff.org>.

Playboy Serves Up Women Of The Internet

It was bound to happen sooner or later, and we, for (more than) one, are glad that Playboy decided not to wait.

From the fine folks who brought us the classics Girls of Summer and Girls of Winter, comes a pictorial called Women of the Internet. (It probably was not a good idea to call them the Girls of the Internet, what with all that Com Bill controversy over underage users and the Internet.)

The 10-page section (Playboy, April '96) features 15 different beautiful Net nymphs. Netheads will probably recognize one familiar, uh, face. Dazzling Danni Ashe, caretaker of adult site Danni's Hard Drive <www.danni.com>, who closes out the section. Knowing that the '90's are the Information Age, Playboy was also nice enough to provide e-mail addresses for the models.

If that wasn't enough, the April '96 issue also features a beautiful blonde who owns her own software development company. Turn-ons include computers with tons of RAM!

By the way, if you don't have a subscription and you don't want to go to the newsstand to buy the Bunny book, you can see the Women of the Internet on the Internet by going to the Playboy site <www.playboy.com>.

THE GERMAN FRONT

CompuServe recently banned access to more than 200 newsgroups on Usenet because of anti-pornography laws in Germany.

"What's the big deal? I don't live in Germany," you may ask. It's a big deal because CompuServe not only banned the groups in Berlin, but also in United States cities such as Boston and Boise.

While some of the fuss from the Fatherland was understandable, along with wacking newsgroups such as alt.sex.pedophilia, the ban also put an end to sexually oriented support groups such as soc.support.youth.gay-lesbian-bi...The seven most banned newsgroups, according to Internet Underground magazine are: alt.binaries.pcitures.erotica.pre-teen, alt.binaries.pictures.erotica.young, alt.binaries.pictures.erotica.teen.male, alt.binaries.pictures.erotic.senior citizens, alt.sex.bestiality, alt.sex.pedophilia.pictures and alt.sex.pedophilia.girls...

CUMMINGS & GOINGS

Tiffany Million says she is bored with adult entertainment and is retiring. The busty blonde told Adult Video News she is looking for some new challenges and is already involved in a few projects, including working on the production crew of a made-for-TV movie, and a book.

While adult entertainment is losing one talented temptress, it is regaining another. Shanna McCullough has announced that she will return to XXX performing after a four-year absence. Shanna began her career in 1983 and has made well over 150 videos. Adult stars Steven St. Croix and John Dough have signed exclusive contracts with Vivid Video.

DIVA X

Pixis may have started out as a hardware manufacturer, but their DIVA X CD-ROM series and the Touch and Feel User Interface are evidence that this computer company knows a thing or two about software!

Article by Greg Salmon

Without a doubt, Pixis is the leader in adult interactive entertainment. For over five years, Pixis' titles have remained on the cutting edge of technology and on the top of the best-seller lists–with good reason. The company's background is solidly based in computer–as opposed to adult–entertainment, and that gives them an edge, (as well as a little attitude). But, that's what it takes to be number one. From their first title back in 1991, "Scissors N' Stones", to the internationally renowned "Neurodancer", and their TFUI (Touch-Feel-User-Interface) titles like "Virtual Vixens" and "Space Sirens", down to the most recent innovations of "Space Sirens 2" and "Diva X", these guys seem to do everything right. Their TFUI is a cut above everything else in the industry. Not to mention that Pixis is one of only a couple of companies not trying desperately to figure out how to recycle the video footage they shot five years ago. These guys are cool. With an average age in the office of about 25, everybody in the company is young. We managed to get in touch with two of the oldest members of the group and get them to talk to us about Pixis, the adult CD-ROM market and–Zen. If that's not an exclusive, there ain't no such thing.

Our first interview is Mark Media, President of Pixis. After many attempts to get in touch with him, we were finally able to pin him down at home, convalescing after a short bout with the flu. Despite the sore throat he was in good spirits.

How did Pixis begin?

In February,1992, we went from hardware manufacture to software development. We felt the future was software and we put all of our efforts into developing the most innovative software that's out there, especially in the adult world. I zeroed out my savings account, and put everything into the company.

Why adult material as opposed to just games?

Well, it's a well known fact that what fueled the growth of the home video market was adult films. So, we applied the same model to software and computer hardware. It was a calculated risk. We started out with sales in the hundreds and now we're in the millions.

Are you involved in the production process?

Yes. I used to be a hacker. I'm now one of the conceptual designers there.

Tell us about the Touch-Feel-User-Interface (TFUI).

We wanted to bridge the gap between the viewer and our subjects, the women. The first point of intimate human contact is usually through the hands, either shaking hands, tapping people on the shoulder, or whatever. So we decided that was the natural way to go. In that way Diva X is ahead of its time. A lot of people still don't understand it, but...they will. It's all about real-time interaction between your hands and the model. TFUI 2.0 is hardware independent it'll work with a regular mouse, or it will work with a device we developed called an X-Tracker which can attach to your hand or other parts of your body. It will also work with head-mounted displays like the Virtual-lo Glasses.

The amazing thing about this game is that you can buy the regular Diva X for $49.95, or you can buy the combination with the X-Tracker for $149.95, or you can get into the head-mounted displays that run for about $699. We're also working with other hardware manufacturers to develop an entire new experience in adult software.

What's Pixis's driving philosophy?

Pixis is more of an internationally-inclined company that concentrates on producing innovative concept-driven software. It's unique because we concentrate on combinations of various aspects of many different cultures. If you take a look at all our products starting from our first game called Scissors and Stones which is an ancient Asian game that we combine with young American models. That's a different concept. We're always trying to touch upon unique ideas and put a twist on them. We're very much into pop culture, music, fashion, technology, and whatever else is now.

So you guys are just cool?

No, we don't want to say we're hip. Once you say you're hip, you're no longer hip. We live in the media generation.

Where is the future of adult computer entertainment?

A lot of adult companies are putting too much emphasis on 3D graphics and exploring these 3D worlds. The bottom line is that the end user doesn't care about exploring these 3D worlds or playing these games. What the end user really wants is realistic interaction with beautiful women. That's the bottom line.

The future will be custom-based. Users will be able to formulate their own fantasies and have them incorporated into a software product: user driven software. We're also trying to make technology transparent. When we first started we were trying to highlight technology. Now that is simply passe it's something that we want to hide. We want to highlight the experience. The technology is a method for us to achieve realistic interaction. We're looking for a seamless way to interact. We want to offer mental vacations– because that's what everybody's looking for, whether it's mainstream or adult entertainment. People want to get away from the doldrums of daily reality.

How do you know that?

I personally read every reader registration card. And I read a lot of the e-mail that we get.

What about live nude chat?

That's a separate thing. There's nothing like interaction with another person. That's another experience in itself, but when fantasy is needed, that's when the computer will assist in taking the end-user into different experiences. Overall, there will be a lot of growth in on-line eleconferencing, but there's also going to be the opposite–which is, incorporating artificial intelligence into adult games.

Take us through the making of a title.

The first step is, throwing around some ideas. Then we build upon it and decide what the object of the game will be. Then we create what's called a game bible. That outlines every aspect of the game including graphics and other small details. Then we have a writer write the scenario, and then we have interfaces designed. We story-board for the videos. Then we start to gather the raw materials, either video or code and build the final product.

"A lot of adult companies are putting too much emphasis on 3D graphics and exploring these 3D worlds. The bottom line is that the end user doesn't care about exploring

You say "raw material" rather too casually we're talking about naked women, right?

Yes, but there's a lot of technical things about all that. The people that work with it see hours and hours of these naked bodies.

Do you get involved in the shooting of the stuff?

Not really. I lead a very monastic life. I don't drink, don't smoke, don't cuss, and I'm into Zen meditation.

Is that at odds with being a pornographer?

It's a duality. That's what life is all about. Everything has duality. Nothing makes sense according to life as we know it. It provides a balance.

Is Pixis, as a company, monastic?

Yes. If you walk around our offices you wouldn't be able to guess it's an adult company. There are no pin-ups on the walls. There are just comic books and stuff. It's a very creative atmosphere. A lot of people are very conservative in the company. It's just business. Just because we're in the adult business doesn't mean we have to behave in the stereotypical adult business manner. That doesn't exist in our company. It's a very casual, very friendly atmosphere...run like a regular businessthat's us. We have full medical, dental and mental benefits.

Mental benefits?

Yes, one guy broke the bank on the mental compensation. He's been promoted. We give people a mental test when you apply for a job, and, if you fail, we let you come aboard. We try to have fun. We're a responsible company. We want to be a little more sophisticated company. Look at our ads. They look more like fashion ads than anything else. We're pushing the barriers of the adult genre. That's our approach; to be unique and different. We're the dark horse of the adult industry. We don't really get involved in the politics of the adult business. We just worry about pleasing the customer. It's been misconstrued that we're the company with attitude, but in actuality, we're not really interested in socializing with our competitors or in the industry. We just want to be popular with the end-user.

And that translates into great sales; what's a best seller for you?

On the low end we sell about 25,000 units, up to as much as 100,000 units. A bestseller is 50,000 on initial release. Virtual Vixens has now close to 100,000 units in accumulation. We've garnished a good reputation over the years so people look forward to our products. But there is a major slowdown in the industry. The number one reason, we think, is because there's not enough good product out there. And if any of our competitors are reading this we encourage them to make more high quality products. It will only assist the whole business. But a lot of our competitors are just recycling video footage. And that causes a lot of buyer's remorse. People are feeling ripped-off. So the business is experience a slow-down but we're up from last year.

"I think these worlds or playing these games. What the end user really wants is realistic interaction with beautiful women. That's the bottom line." Mark Media, president of Pixis

What's coming from Pixis in the near future?

Expect surprises from Pixis...we're always going to up the ante in the game. We want to challenge the competition. Expect an interactive world from Pixis on the Web. Right now you can get a free TFUI trial on line. The Internet is the future. Also TFUI is going to be licensed to other companies. And we want to capture the sexual essence of a woman to disc. You'll be seeing more comprehensive Divas, as the series continues.

What are your favorite titles?

The favorite ones are the ones we're going to be making in the future.

You've also recently started Pixis publishing. What's that?

We started the Pixis Publishing group because a lot of companies have come to us to distribute their products. The first title we distribute will be called Passion Poker that's a great card game featuring beautiful European models. Then there's a title called Venus de Light. That's also a great title.

Initially we were to do this interview at your office but you don't allow journalists there, why's that?

The reason for the secrecy is because I, myself, am a very paranoid person. It's always good to be running scared. It motivates individuals to achieve better. If you rest on your laurels you're never going to achieve market leadership. Paranoia is a form of motivation. But I'm an extreme. Everybody else in the company is very level-headed. The reason we're so secretive is because this business is based on concepts and ideas. It's easy for a company to come in and try to sell adult software, but what really sells are concepts, ideas, and execution. Since we can handle a product from concept design to actualization, we're unique. There are few companies that can do this. That has given us an edge.

Next up on our interview list is Anthony Garcia, Pixis' Director of Development, again, not an easy man to wrestle a half-hour from, we had to make do with a quick chat while he pecked at his keyboard and shooed away employees in need of one or another kind of assistance.

Were you involved right from the start?

Well, these three guys got together and decided to take advantage of the new QuickTime that had come out. They were working on a mainstream project that didn't work out, so they asked me to do some programming on a game, and that turned into Scissors and Stones. That's when I came aboard.

Who came up with TFUI?

Mark and I came up with that. Mark is the idea guy. He came up with the idea for TFUI and I'm the one who was stuck trying to make it work.

Do you adhere to any kind of guiding principals?

From my point of view we're just trying to combine sex and sexiness with the game-playing aspect of computers.

Do you think you've succeeded?

Yes, with Space Sirens 2. That's my baby. I've got the awards for it on my desk right here. That was an interesting story. We were moving offices and so I had to sit down and write the whole thing...script, interface, everything in one week-end. It was pretty crazy,

What about Diva X?

Diva X isn't a game. Space Sirens 2 is a game in the sense that there are game elements involved. Diva X is a sort of "create your own movie and watch it" kind of thing. I like Space Sirens 2 more because it's a game. But that's just me.

What are you working on right now?

I'm redesigning the interface for Diva X. I didn't program the first one and we had some complaints from people about it so I'm in the process of adding stuff to it.

What about future projects?

I like to focus on one project at a time. I don't look forward to things. I'm involved in too many aspects of the project so that I have to focus on one thing.

As director of development, what do you do?

First we come up with concept, what it's going to be about. Mark is the big, grand idea kind of guy. Then I'll say, "what if we do this and this," and he'll say, "that's cool", and we'll come up with basic concept of the story. Then we decide what technology we need to get the effect that we want. Then we start scripting and story-boarding. I design the interface. Mark looks for the actresses. Then I give the camera people a story board of all the shots I need to be able to make the thing interactive. I have to show up at the shoot to make sure I get all the shots. I learned that the hard way. So now, I spend the day on the set. Then we digitize the footage into computer usable form. And that's about it.

For instance, for Space Sirens 2 we came up with the concept then Mark leaked to the press, something about the new TFUI interface. So then I had to create it. And now we're moving it one step further again. There are some things in the works. It's going to be more of a virtual interface. It doesn't quite fit in with Diva X. I'm working with TFUI to make it a kind of real-time object manipulation interface. The hands that you see in TFUI now? Well, you'll be able to control them in real time and actually do things. Kind of like a real hand, and you're in control. Take things, keep things, put them back. There's not going to be any time lag. There may be some mainstream companies that might want to license the stuff.

What game is that for?

I'm just designing the technology right now. The way it's going to be used.

Is that the way you generally work?

Yeah. I like to do it this way because if I do it the other way around and look at it in the context of the game I might limit myself. I would rather think of all the possibilities of the way I could use the technology and then use part of that for a game.

How may programmers do you have?

We have about 20 people on staff and we always use free-lancers.

All working on one project?

No, usually about one, to three projects at a time.

Do you like your work?

Yeah, there are fringe benefits that make it nice. At the last shoot we did for Diva X, there's a sequence where she's taking off her underwear she was having trouble getting her feet out of her underwear so, since we were only shooting her from the knees up it was my job to lie under her, face up, and pull her underwear down to the floor so she could lift her leg out. Rough job, but somebody's gotta' do it.

It takes management to do that job; you wouldn't want some minimum wager down there.

It's a lot of fun. With these games, because of the large amount of sexual content, there's less game programming required so that I can do a whole game. Before, I was working for a mainstream game company and I was just another cog in the wheel. I would design one small part of somebody else's vision. In this atmosphere I'm able to have a lot of control. And I like that. That's good.

What's your computing background?

I was doing animation and graphics and then a little desktop publishing. That's when these guys called me and wanted me to program Scissors and Stones. Up to that time I didn't have any programming experience. They had known me from the hacker days, when the Apple 2 and the Commodore 64 were

X-FILES

Pixis is known to keep a tight lid on its projects, and who can blame them? But they gave Adult PC Guide a sneak peak at some of the images used in the DIVA X series.

big. That's when I used to do that. So Pixis called and asked if I would do that for them. And I said, "Sure, for part of the company."

What were you hacking?

I was using the Commodore 64. Mark used the Apple 2. I didn't do too much hardcore stuff...I didn't want to get busted. I had friends that were into that. I just hacked graphics and messed around with stuff.

Are you a computer geek?

Well, I'm an all-in-one. I've been an actor on TV in my early twenties. I used to be a pro skater. Even here I do the programming, writing, the graphics, design, everything but the music. But I just set up my MIDI...I'm going to learn it.

What do you use to program?

We use all different kinds of computers. You name it we have it. It all depends on what we're doing. We sometimes program in C++, sometimes with authoring software, different tools. Depends on what we're doing. Diva X required some custom C programming to get the frame accessing up and in both directions. A lot of companies that make CD-ROMs use off-the-shelf software to do what they do, we kind of go beyond that. We push it to make it do something else. I like the Macs a little better than the PCs personally. But then again I grew up on the Amiga and I like that one better than both, but that's not a mainstream platform. I'm hoping they come out with a PowerAmiga. They said it might be out next year. If it doesn't happen, then I'm going to get a PC.

Diva X is your first PC only title. Why?

Marketing. The PC market is so much bigger. But it also depends on the product. Because Diva X required some custom programming we didn't want to spend the extra time and money to go after the small Mac market. The older stuff can be programmed and ported very simply. That's no big deal. But we spent a lot of time and money to develop and write Diva X.

Where do you see Pixis in the future?

We're trying to ramp up our production to come out with a title every month or two. It's all management. We're trying to manage our resources to produce more. Streamlining. That's the word. We're getting more people in. I'm training people to do some of the things I'm doing.

What's your next project?

There's a number of products coming out that we didn't create. We're publishing stuff. We take stuff from small companies out there that meet the Pixis standards. We have the distribution to put it out there worldwide. We get a lot of submissions, you'd be surprised. Both completed games, partially done and scripts and ideas that people send in.

Do you use scripts and ideas?

No. We have really high standards so we want to be able to pop it into the computer and see what it's like. If it's on paper you wonder what it will be like.

What's it like working at Pixis?

We have a bunch of demented people working here. That's one thing. It's pretty crazy here. In the production area where people are doing digitizing, the artists are all in a place that we call the dungeon because they like it dark. All black walls, pounding thrash music. It's pretty crazy.

What do you think of the future of adult computer entertainment?

We have that discussion all the time. My personal feeling is that an animated woman is a novelty but a real beautiful woman with personality and one who knows what she's doing can't be touched. There are plans here to do a 3D modeled Diva X. It'll be a super-high quality SGI-rendered virtual woman done in the style of Japanese manga. We've already done some tests and it looks really great. Since it's using the Diva X engine, it won't look animated. It'll be Jurassic Park quality.

Things look good for Pixis, the guys who can never rest. There should be more people in the adult interactive business concerned primarily with making good titles and not money. The guys at Pixis have the right attitude and the right formula for success.

Seymore Butts Unplugged

The maker of the best-selling CD-ROM of all time bares his soul... as well as his plans for the future.

Article by G. Sage

Utter the name Seymore Butts to any young, knowledgable aficionado of adult material—both on and off the Internet—and you'll get an immediate nod of recognition. This ruling entrepreneur of porn has single-handedly brought a much hipper, younger feel to adult entertainment. Porn fans have come to see the world through his eyes thanks to so many of his feature videos. His name has also become synonymous with adult CD-ROMs, as his title "Seymore Butts Interactive" became the best-selling adult CD-ROM title of all time. He has kept that tradition alive with "Seymore Butts 2: In Pursuit of Pleasure." Quite an impressive feat for a laid-back guy who has never really bothered about computers. Adult PC Guide caught up with him soon after the completion of his latest video project, called "American Tushie," at his home in the San Fernando Valley, just over the hill from Hollywood.

APCG: Tell us about your beginnings.

SB: I grew up in the Bronx, in New York. I moved out when I was 14 and came out to California. One day I came home from school, my bags were packed and my parents told me we were moving. Somebody in my family came across some money, which was rare for us.

APCG: How did you get into the adult business?

SB: I owned a gym, and times were tough so I was looking for other ways of making an income. I was renting the gym out as a location for films and commercials when one day, porn director John Stagliano walked in and wanted to rent it out. I rented it out to him and he made a movie called "Where the Girls Sweat." I watched all day, and I decided I could do that. So I did.

APCG: Sounds easy.

SB: It wasn't. It was hard. It looked easier at the time than it was. The learning process was a lot longer than I thought it would be. You have to remember that I had never picked up a video camera before I shot my first sex scene.

APCG: So you never had any interest in movie-making?

SB: The only interest I had in it was screwing some of the women I was seeing on the big screen. That's about it. I went to high school with a lot of movie stars—Rob Lowe, Emilio Estevez and Charlie Sheen.

APCG: Have you stayed in touch?

SB: Sure.

APCG: Have you tried to get these guys to do any work for you?

SB: Not really. We kid about it sometimes, but no. Charlie was pretty bold going up there in front of a jury and admitting to spending $50,000 on hookers. I guess he had to in front of a jury. Still you have to know he's a bit off somewhere. But he wouldn't do it. I even offered to put a blooper on his face. I've done it before in "Playing with Fire," where Shane blows a fireman on the back of a real fire truck. I got sued for $172 million by the city of New York for that. I remember that well. I got sued for defaming the city of New York. It was a volunteer fire house, and they said I didn't have permission to film in there. But he invited her in, and the next thing you know she's sucking his dick on the end of a fire truck. They dropped the suit.

APCG: How did Seymore Butts happen?

SB: As I got more involved in the business, and being that I have good conversational skills, which a lot of people in the business don't have, I found that my life was getting very interesting, just being around the girls. Because the girls were a lot freer with me, I always thought to myself "If I had a fucking camera with me...this would be great." That was always the idea in my head. So I finally I decided to make videos as close to real life as possible. I think I get pretty much as close as anybody.

APCG: How and when did you decide to make CD-ROMs?

SB: New Machine came to me.

APCG: Were you computer literate? Had you ever heard of CD-ROMs at that point?

SB: I wasn't. I had heard of them but in a very limited way and very peripherally, so I didn't pay much attention. Now I'm pretty computer literate.

APCG: Tell me a little about the making of Seymore Butts.

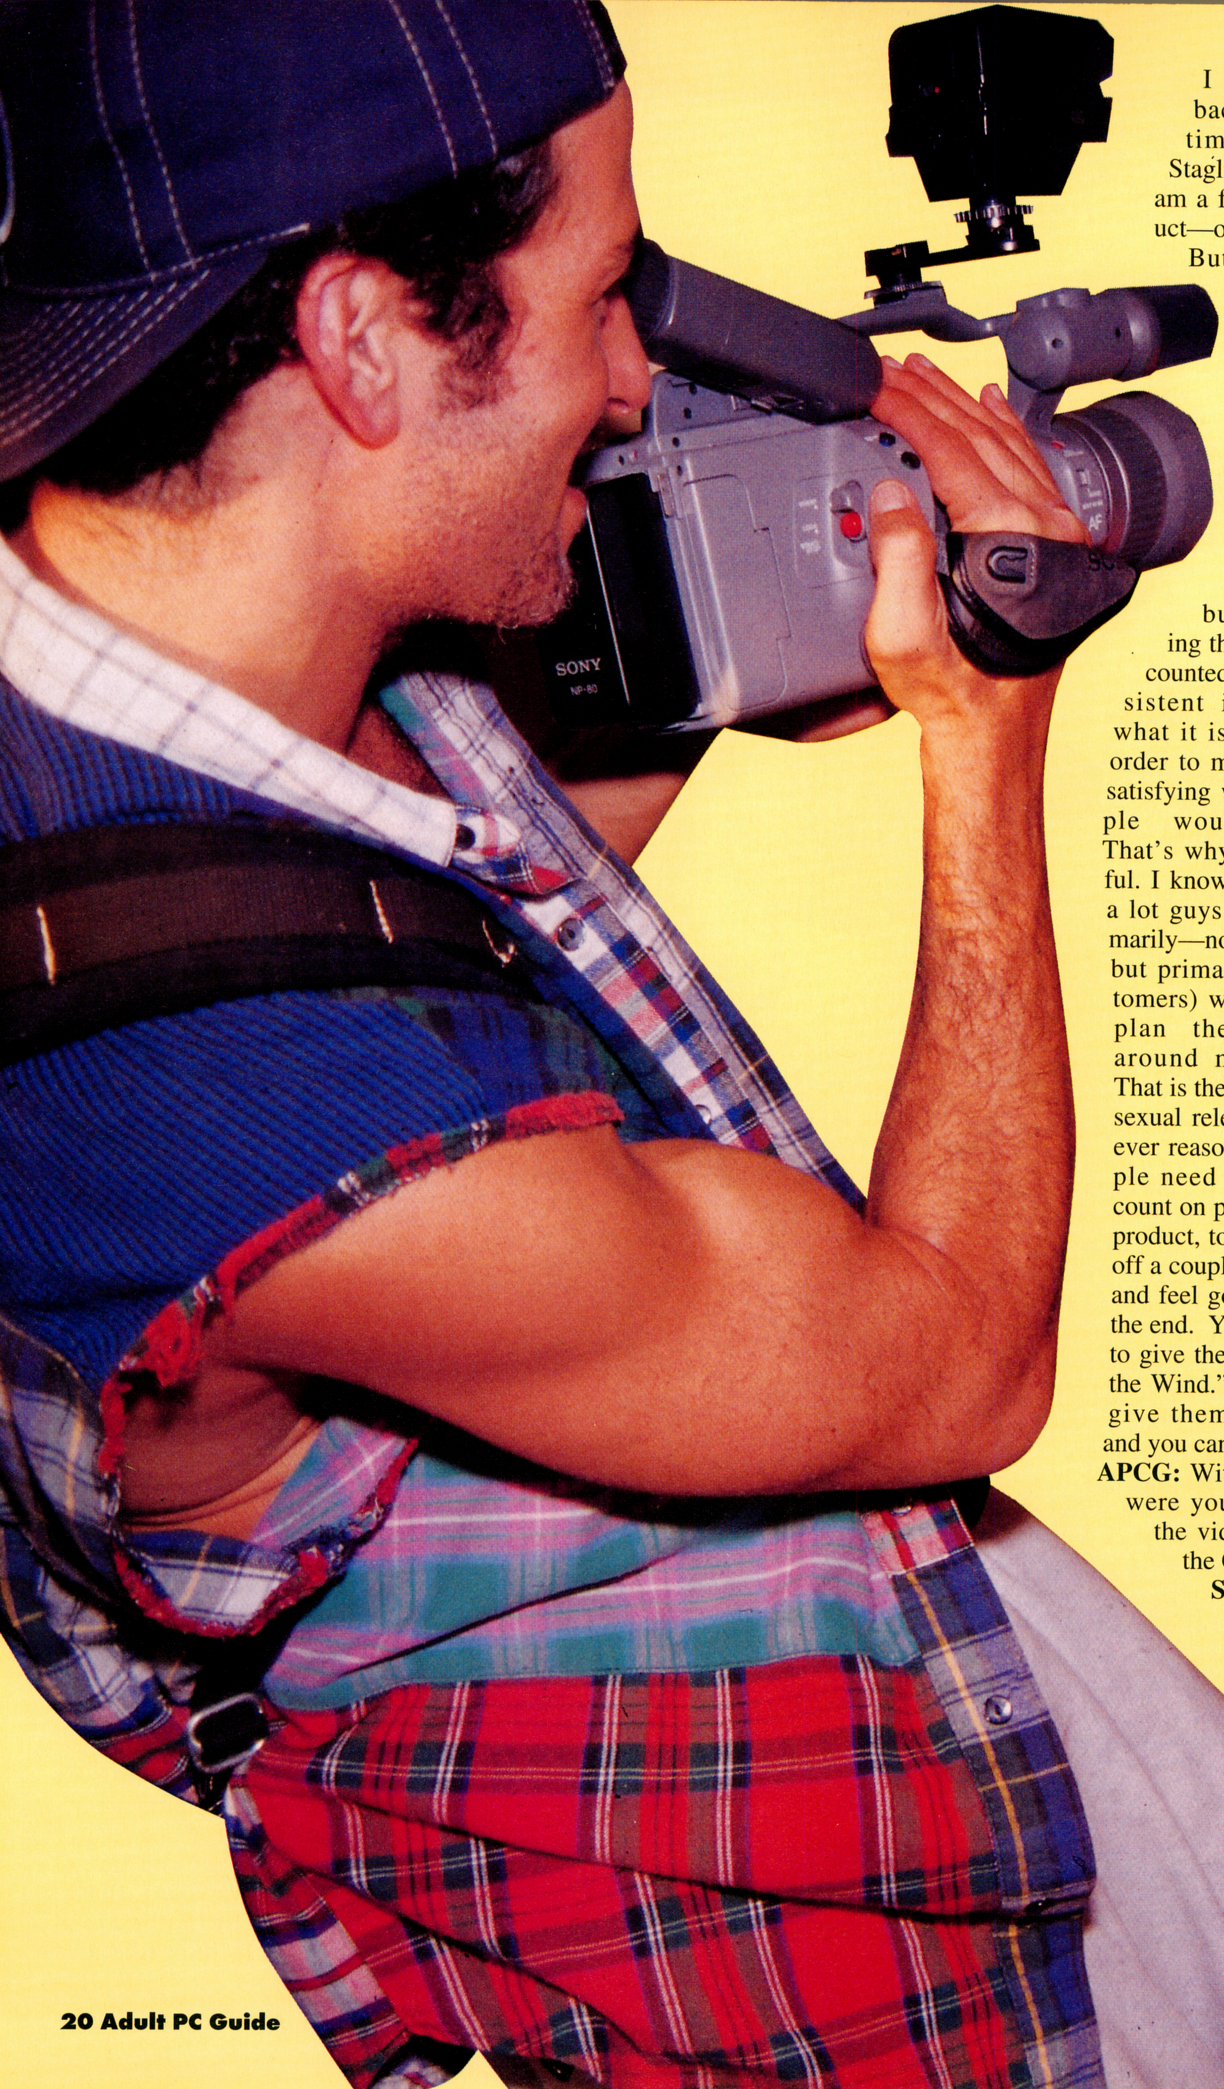
SB: I didn't have as much input into the first one as I did into the second, simply because I didn't have the know-how. I was very much involved in the creative side, but New Machine took over the technical side. I found it to be tedious to make—all those choices. You have to shoot for all those possibilities. In the adult business, you're lucky if the girl can get the line right once, but now you have to get her to do it right four different times. That's tedious, but if you want to be considered a ground-breaker you've got to do it.

APCG: It was worthwhile, wasn't it? It's a bestseller.

SB: Oh, yeah, number two has still not outsold number one. It's still the best selling CD-ROM of all time. I'm still making money on it two years later. Wait, it may be a little longer than that. My memory's not good for time. Somebody once said that has to do with the bong that's permanently attached to my hand.

APCG: We never saw your face in the first one. Did you really film it all?

SB: Yeah, that's me. I shot it and then they took it and they showed me what they were going to do with it. They took care of all of the programming. Then I had to come in and take care of all of the bridges and tie-togethers. I had to see everything. I'm kind of a perfectionist that way, 'cause I don't want to look like a shmuck.



I care. It goes back to that first time when I saw Stagliano at work. I am a fan of the product—of good product. But, I was also a frustrated fan who was always feeling ripped off and always looking for a consistent source of good product. I went into the business knowing that if I could be counted on to be consistent in delivering what it is fans need in order to masturbate in a satisfying way, then people would respond. That's why I'm successful. I know that there are a lot guys (men are primarily—not exclusively, but primarily—the customers) who sometimes plan their evenings around masturbation. That is their only form of sexual release, for whatever reason. Those people need to be able to count on picking up your product, to be able to get off a couple of times to it and feel good about it in the end. You don't have to give them "Gone with the Wind." You have to give them good shots, and you can't cheat them.

APCG: With that attitude were you bothered by the video quality on the CD-ROMs?

SB: I was told that was the best it could be.

Seymour's up to his neck in tits as he makes smiley-face with Kathy Willets and Shane (left), and then there's the challenge of getting a bead on the girl-eats-girl action (above).

My feeling is that if that's the best it could be then people would understand. It's not like, they could look at another product and say that it's better. The style lends itself to a raw feel that the computer enhances even more.

APCG: In making Seymore Butts Interactive were you looking at other games out there?

SB: I was looking at them as we were doing ours, you know, the "Leisure Suit Larry," kind of thing. I didn't like any of them. That's why it was really hip, making it different.

APCG: How did the second one come about?

SB: The first one was so successful that it was like "Hey, let's do another one!" I worked with one particular person at New Machine in basically designing the entire game. I designed the gaming aspects of the game. We wrote the interactive scenarios. We created them. I don't really like to script things too much. I try to keep the dialogue real. Sometimes it works better than others. Usually it works at least a little, which is better than stiff dialogue.

APCG: Have you got a computer now?

SB: A 486 PC compatible with a 4-speed CD-ROM.

APCG: What do you do with it?

SB: I surf the Net.

APCG: Any favorite sites?

SB: Funnel.com. That's from Sweden. Then there's one called sex-acts.com or something like that. I surf, man. I'm not into chat. The thing is that I chat so much as it is all day long about what I do. The bottom line is that I'm surfing the Net 'cause I'm looking at what other people are doing because I'm working on my own site and it's going to be the hottest thing that you've ever seen.

APCG: Really? When is it going to be up?

SB: June or July, maybe. Look for Buttsville.com then.

APCG: What is it going to be like?

SB: I can't talk about it.

APCG: Do you know?

SB: Sure. We're gonna use Java and all the latest and greatest technology out there.

APCG: Are you going to do another CD-ROM?

SB: That's in the works as we speak.

APCG: You can't talk about it?

SB: Look at the business today. Look at my video line. Have you ever heard of Fillmore Butts? Ever heard of "Seymore Butts meets Kathy Willets?" Well there's "Fillmore Butts meets Kathy Willets,"

"Seymore Butts on the Loose," "Fillmore Butts on the Prowl." Same title. I just give out a name and people are all over it. What's next? A gay guy that's going to be Seymore Cocks? I don't know if Fillmore Butts bothers me as much as "Fillmore Butts meets Kathy Willets" bothers me. It crosses the line. You give somebody an inch and they want seven more. I know a few girls like that and that's cool, but "Fillmore Butts" is not cool.

APCG: Is that your biggest problem with the adult business?

SB: Being ripped off? No. My biggest problem is constantly being persecuted by the government. Every time there's a knock at the door you're thinking, can it be the FBI?

APCG: Is it really that bad?

SB: Hell yeah. The problem with the U.S. is that obscenity, which is against the law, has never been given a clear definition. It's subject to community standards. The reality is that at the head of some communities are people that don't represent my or your feelings, but they can prosecute me for sending a tape of a husband having anal intercourse with his own wife. They enforce acts that are disguised as laws to protect children, but are just ways of trying to get our business out of business.

APCG: How have you been harassed?

SB: Well there's that law suit in New York. I was arrested in Las Vegas on 14 counts of pandering as well as one count of conspiracy to commit prostitution. I was facing 78 years. But they dropped the charges. It was at a fund raiser. The idea was that it was a raffle where the winner gets to peel the clothes off a porn star and keep the clothes. So there were 12 porn stars that were trying to out-do each other. One girl gave this guy, a fan, a blowjob, except he never got hard, anyway I gave her a condom 'cause I thought she was going to blow him. That was the count of conspiracy to commit prostitution. There were nine vice cops hiding in the audience. They busted all of us. I had to go up in front of the grand jury in Las Vegas. That wasn't fun. And sometimes at trade shows, people come up to me and point out photographers who are Feds. Who knows, maybe it's all B.S., but it doesn't make me feel at ease. It doesn't make me feel comfortable to think that my pictures are all over somebody's office. That people are watching me. That people are keeping tabs on us. That's scary.

APCG: But it hasn't all been bad. What's the good side of being in the adult business?

SB: Sexually, I have experienced a lot of things. It's hard to pick out one highlight that stands out against the rest. I can remember sticking it in Venessa Chase's butt and it was pretty good. And I can remember getting a blowjob from three girls at one time, Shane, Missy, and Amanda Adams. That was pretty cool. I can remember getting a blowjob on a plane to Toronto. I liked that. One of the nicest things about being in the business is when somebody comes up to me on the street and says something nice—it happens a lot and it's totally cool. Even getting letters that say "Hey man, love your movies", or from couples, is cool. I get so many letters I can's answer them all.

APCG: Are computers a part of your life?

SB: I try to keep attuned to what's going on, but I don't follow it religiously. My friend, who I'm going to do the Internet with, keeps me up-to-date on what's going on. We talk on a weekly basis and if anything new and exciting comes up he'll tell me about it and explain it to me so that I can understand it.

APCG: So what do you think is hot?

SB: Obviously, virtual reality. That's the deal. True VR.

APCG: You think that's going to happen?

SB: Oh, yeah.

APCG: Do you think we're ever going to get VR sex suits?

SB: Heck, yeah. They're going to be testing the suits on me! I'm going to be the guinea pig.

APCG: Will it replace sex?

SB: Good question. It's going to test our socialization as we know it. It's going to test a lot of things as we know them. I envision places where you will be able to go and rent a room—you could go to somewhere and say you'd like Pamela Lee for an hour, and you'd like some heavy anal sex, and if it really worked, if you really felt like you were having sex with Pam Lee, that would be nice.

APCG: Despite having sex with all these girls in real life, you'd still use it?

SB: Heck yes. I wouldn't use it a lot, every once in a while.Every once in awhile I still masturbate. I'm getting older, I don't need to fuck all the time. It might replace my masturbation, but not my sex life.

APCG: So you think it will replace masturbation?

SB: Isn't it the same? Don't you think if you had your choice of whether to masturbate or have sex with somebody, you'd have sex?

APCG: How soon do you think all this will happen?

SB: A while, maybe seven to 10 years from now. maybe more. The places with rooms will be a reality in seven to 10 years. But the technology will be available sooner. It will all be a big business.

APCG: Are you looking forward to it?

SB: I'm looking forward to everything. I'm planning to have the hottest site on the web. I can only imagine what it will be like in a couple of years.

APCG: Why the break-up with Shane?

SB: The reality of it was that our business and our personal stuff was all the same. What happened, happened, and that turned into our business. Shane was young, and she became a big star quickly. We got into little stupid arguments about things. She's very competitive. She's actually out making her own movie to prove to me she can do it.

APCG: Are you guys still friends?

SB: We're friends. I'm probably going to be distributing her movies. And who knows? You never know. We had good times.

APCG: Tell me about Taylor Hayes.

SB: Taylor is my girlfriend in the movies, sort of. We fool around. We date. I date quite a few people.

APCG: What else do we need to know about Seymore Butts?

SB: I don't know.

APCG: No secrets?

SB: No. My secret is just trying to be consistent. It's always fun, and everybody's doing what they're doing because they want to, not because they're getting paid. I'm driven to keep on doing what I've been doing: bringing the fans adult entertainment that they can confidently purchase or rent—that they can enjoy, even with a loved one, or partner or whatever. And that's what I'm going to continue to do, on video, in CD-ROMs, on the Net. Buttsville is going to be the coolest of the cool. But you do have to become a citizen.

QuickPad™

It was recently pointed out by our readers that Adult PC Guide needs to include more information about sexy Web sites. That's why, starting with this issue, we are expanding this section to include listings as well as feature reviews.
If you know of sexy Web site or run one, let us know about it and we will be happy to list it, complete with a screen capture. Send information to Adult PC Guide, 14411 Commerce Way, Suite 420, Miami Lakes, FL 33016.

URL: www.sextoy.com

If you are looking to add some spice to your love life but want to avoid the embarrassment of actually going to an adult toy store, have we got a Web site for you.

It's called Cybersextoys and it is, as the home page states, "possibly the largest selection, most pictures and easiest ordering of sex toys in cyberspace."

It sounds cliched, but from the comfort of your own home you can browse through one of the most comprehensive on-line adult shops, see (in full color) what the product looks like and order it through a secure server.

Granted, you may have to wait a few days for your purchase to arrive, but you'll be free to get that cock ring and butt plug you have always wanted but were too embarrassed to purchase over the counter.

There are 10 voluminous sections dedicated to every possible taste. There are sections for men, women and bondage fans. There are also sections on love dolls, videos, books, lotions, edible undies and candies.

If you are one of those really baaaad boys who prefers sheep, you may want to check out the love doll section. Aside from the obligatory men and women, Cybersextoys also offers the Luv Ewe and Ms. Piglet, inflatable farm animals.

Should you and your lover be looking for something a little more tame, then you may want to click on "Lotions, Creams and Flavors." Here you'll find bubbles, lubricants, whipped cream and much more to make things mouthwatering.

Unlike some other sites that group a lot of products into one picture, assign it a number and then list information below with a corresponding caption, Cybersextoys is much more thorough. The "Women's World" section, for example, has over 30 different products, each with its own color photo. And what about the prices? Obviously some sites offer products on-line but charge you a little more. Not Cybersextoys. All of the prices listed are comparable to adult novelty stores and are very reasonable. As for the technical aspects of this site, they are impeccable. The products are listed in easy to access sections and the photos are large enough to enjoy, but small enough to take minimal download time. This site is what adult cybershopping should be about!

Links - Pro Sex

http://www.positive.org/cps/jsy/pro_sex.html
Cute, just downright cute. If it weren't for the language it could be used as an educational tool for teenagers. Any pro-sex or sexual awareness group is listed on this link site. Many of the sites are given a brief explanation of their functions, and the only disappointing thing was the fact that some of the addresses wouldn't open (wrong or old address.) If this site gets updated regularly it would be an effective on-ramp to superhighway information sex sites. As for gifs, there are only "cute" drawings

Videos & CD's - Mermaid

http://www.webcom.com./mermaid/xxxvideo.html
Cheesy ads, probably cheesier videos. This is one of the worst looking commercial sites seen. For starters, they black out everything (fear of lawsuit?) Next, the gifs are so small you have to squint to see them. The CD ads are a little more promising but the site on whole was a hole. Don't waste your time or money, give it to the poor. In all fairness, we went back to access this site and got a note that it was under re-construction. This either means what it says, or not. But perhaps they got so much flak that they're making this a viable site. Stay tuned.

Erotica Online

http://www.unms.com/top/eo.html
Features lots of color photos in the typically available GIF and JPG format, plus some sexy stories and text files. Access is $15 using First Virtual's payment system which is becoming common on the World Wide Web. For information of First Virtual's system, head to http://www.fv.com.

5th World

http://www.euro.net/5thworld/
Amsterdam's hottest site, home to Erotic City, the Pink Pages, World Wide Women and more. Often overwhelmed by access, it's easier to reach in the late evening in the USA. They are moving to a higher-access system. Strong point is explicit photos, many more graphics than those found on US sites. Many sites require membership and a small fee, usually by credit card.

Swedish Erotica

http://pussy.bahnhof.se/Swedish_Erotica/
The opening screen says it all. "You are now entering a Swedish Sex Zone! For $5.99 paid via First Virtual you get one week of access to the site. This online sex magazine contains nude pictures of luscious Swedish blondes doing just about everything. Extremely vivid and strong love scenes, pictures, video files, sexual stories and hot orgasm sounds. "Everything you've heard about Sweden is true!," the site promises. "A land full of sexually liberated and gorgeous blondes. Porno pictures that would give some senators in the US a real hardon.

The Red Light District

http://fun2.fun.nl/
http://www.fun.nl/
This is the only site in the world where you can take a peek at a live sex show in Amsterdam from the Casa Rosso club. It's a great idea but remember you need a fast Internet connection (don't try with less than a 14,400 bps modem) and a toleration for grainy photos. There's also plenty of regular JPG photos, text files and even live chat to keep you occupied for hours. Access is 30 days for $17.50; 90 days for $49.50 or a year for $180.

The Alternative Japan Web Page

http://www.ao.com/
Lots of photos and links are available from this site, mostly Asian women. Some related sites are fee-based.

Welcome To Desire

http://www.desire.co.uk/
Web site sponsored by Desire, a British fetish publication specializing in couples. Lots of fetish photos and text files. Very professional site.

International Sex Page

http://www.ics1.com/live_party/live_new.html
Sex site with heavy emphasis on getting users to call live for a per-minute charge. Nice opening photo makes a visit worthwhile but beware the overseas phone charges.

InterSex City

http://zoom.lm.com/
Dubbed the Internet's largest sex site. It's probably not, but still worth a visit to check on the offerings here, ranging from photos to products.

The Temple of Kate

http://mastrangelo.polito.it/katemoss/
Italy's archive of photos of supermodel Kate Moss in various stages of undress. Often a slow link, so be patient.

Nicki Lewis Home Page

http://www.nicki.com/
Home site of British adult star Nicki Lewis, who used the Internet to launch her worldwide career by posting nude photos of herself to Usenet newsgroups. Piercing fans will find some photos here, too.

The "Muffdiving" FAQ

http://www.dsi.unimi.it/Users/aprile/Help/Muff.html
All you ever wanted to know about the south-of-the-garter art is here, courtesy of this site in Italy. It's from the Usenet.

Russian Liaisons

http://www.austech.com.au/russian/index.html
Find, meet and marry a Russian woman on this Austrian site.

Tokyo Topless

http://www.bekkoame.or.jp/~adolf/
Busty Asian women dominate this Web site based in Japan. Often slow during afternoon hours in the USA

Yahoo

http://www.yahoo.com/Business_and_Economy/Companies/Sex/
Listing of sex-related companies on the World Wide Web in the famous Yahoo index. Changes frequently, but if you're looking for a large site, and one that probably charges a fee, this is the place to start.

Hajime Sorayama Pictures

http://oekoalpha.pz-oekosys.unikiel.de/~kris/hajime/
If you love the art of Olivia, you'll love these high-tech drawings of gorgeous women and female robots. His work is featured frequently in Playboy, Penthouse and other adult magazines in the U.S. Includes some golden shower shots as well.

Site is pretty slow, but you can download the whole collection of photos (four megs) in one hunk if you have the time. It's a TAR archive, so if you are not running Unix you need to use the newest WINZIP to decode it. Get it from http://www.winzip.com. This is far from the whole collection of Sorayama's work.

GAY SEX

Van Damme Shrine

http://www.shef.ac.uk/uni/union/susoc/cass/homes/pm/pm933303/van-damme.html

If the buff body of Jean-Claude Van Damme makes you tingle, come on down to this site. Twenty assorted shots of Van Damme (sorry - no nudes) in all his muscled splendor. There are also a couple of links on this site if you want more, or if it's too much for you to handle, there is a quick link to Philboy's house. For those with the stamina to look at more Jean-Claude, these gifs can be enlarged or downloaded.

Bisexual Home Page

http://serf.org/~jon/soc.bi/
Contains the archives of the soc.bi Usenet newsgroup, including the FAQ file. It's a discussion group for bisexuals all over the world. Some personals creep in here, too.

The Sites Page

http://rulj287.leidenuniv.nl/robert/sites.html
A student has compiled this comprehensive list of sex sites where you'll find much gay, fetish, anything...

LESBIAN SEX

Sappho

http://ursa-major.spdcc.com/pub/sappho
If everyday lesbians in every day clothing and every day poses is your cup of tea, then this site is worth your time. But when we say "every day" we mean it.

We'll wager there isn't a single femme model in the midst. So, flex your feminine muscles and dig in to view the well over 100 pictures of butches being butches. Sad fact that there are so many gifs but not a single nude. Many of them are only about the size of a quarter.

Aphrodite's Pages

http://solzynet.co.uk:8005/elektra/aphrodite/
An ultra-feminine erotic site "by girls about girls," includes a chatroom where women can meet and talk. Admission is $1, four stamps, or a pair of real 1950s nylons. Access to women is free.

Bisexual Home Page

http://serf.org/~jon/soc.bi/
See complete listing under GAY SEX.

FETISH SEX

FemmeWorld

http://www.synet.co.uk/elektra/femmeworld/femmpage.html
Attention all girly-girls! We have found you a home. Although Femmeworld is officially billed as a true women's site, it is the "feminine nation in Electraspace" that boy-girls want. The only disappointment on this site are a lack of gifs. But what the site lacks in gifs it more than makes up for in articles, stories, links and references. Have fun, girly-girlboys, but don't forget to return to reality occasionally.

The Fetish Cafe

http://www.infobahnos.com/~fetishad
Put on your leather or latex because you can't get into this cafe with anything less. "Fetish wear is obligatory." The fetish Cafe has some of the highest quality gifs we've seen although they could be a bit bigger. The Fetish Cafe hails from Montreal and has a listing of events in that area, a social club and regularly updates art, events and films.

Madame X

Madame X has some well-trained slaves and they know how to create and maintain a pretty good web site. This dominatrix is selling everything from her used panties (worn at least twice), to sessions. She will even allow you to script your very own female domination video for her to perform, for the right price, of course.

Hisayoshi Osawa

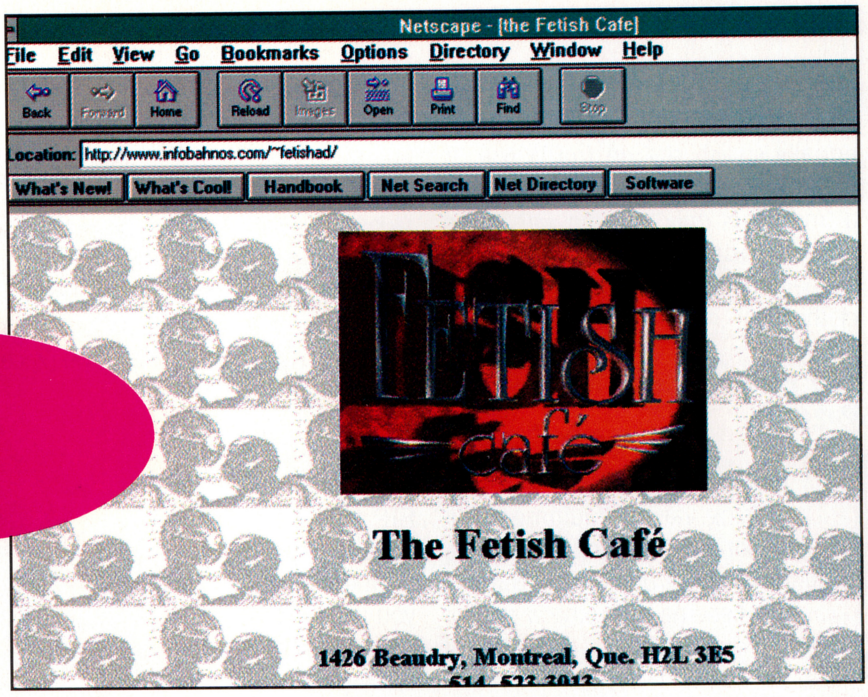
http://www.atom.co.jp/GALLERY/PIC-

TURE/Osawa/index.html
Amazingly high quality fetish photos involving dominant and submissive women in outlandish gear. 20+ pages of photos, all high quality and no charge to view. One of the best sites on the Web, and free. But it helps to have a fast connection to the Net. This site is often slow, especially during daylight hours in the States.



content here. This is a university site, so often slow.

Wildfire

http://sol.zynet.co.uk:8005/wildfire/
Site dedicated to the discipline of women. Often slow during peak hours in the U.S. and the U.K.

The Home Of UK BD/SM

http://www.ccs.neu.edu/home/pallando/BDSM/
Resource site of bondage/discipline and other fetish sites in the UK and elsewhere. Few photos here, but lots of good files, both erotic and common sense.

The "Muffdiving" FAQ

http://www.dsi.unimi.it/Users/aprile/Help/Muff.html
All you ever wanted to know about the south-of-the-garter art is here courtesy of this site in Italy. It's from the Usenet

Sin Inc

http://sininc.com/html/catalog.home.html
Site dedicated to high heels and boots. Nirvana for the foot fetishist.

Gothic Images

http://www.cse.ogi.edu/~dhouse/Gothic/got-images.html
Some fetish and gore photos mixed in with the thousands available. Some are completely tasteless, so be warned. Lack of a good index means it will take some time to go through the

Skin Two

http://www.dungeon.com/~skintwo/
This famous glossy magazine has an equally stylish site on the WWW. It features fetish photos and stories. Has a "members only" section with more explicit adult content. Focus on leather, rubber, PVC and heavy fetish clothing.

The Medical Equipment Home Page

http://www.zynet.co.uk/mediquip/
Using vanilla equipment for not-so-vanilla sex is the topic for these pages, including lots of enema and catheter stuff.

SEX EDUCATION

Yahoo

http://www.yahoo.com/Business_and_Economy/Companies/Sex/
Listing of sex-related companies on the World Wide Web on the famous Yahoo index. Changes frequently, but if you're looking for a large site and one that probably charges a fee, this is the place to start.

FTP Sites

FTP sites are the warehouses of the Internet. Generally you use an FTP program, which are widely available to log into these "FTP servers" and download files, stories and photos. To use an FTP server, you log in as "anonymous" and give an E-mail address as the password. You're supposed to use your own, but...give the complete address, for example: "johndoe@aol.com" You can also use your browser to collect files and photos from FTP servers. Instead of using "http:" as the prefix for an address, use "ftp," the Net abbreviation for "File Transfer Protocol."
For example, to log in to Microsoft's FTP server, using a browser, you would type "ftp://ftp.microsoft.com"
Some FTP sites to try:
ftp://nic.funet.fi/pub/pics/README
ftp://ftp.doc.ic.ac.uk/media/visual/collections/ftp://ftp.univ-rennes1.fr/pub/Images/
ftp://ftp.sunet.se/pub/ftp://ftp.amg.gda.pl/pub/pictures/sexy/ftp://ftp.vslib.cz/pub/graphics/peg/girls/

SEX CLUBS

Red Hot Amsterdam

http://www.demon.co.uk/redhot/index3.html
Amsterdam's self-proclaimed "hottest" adult sex club offers lots of photos, videos and other files. "If you're just looking for pics of models, this is not the site." Cost varies depending on access sought. This access point is in England; once you join you are given a new Web address for members only.

SHOPPING, SEX TOYS

Sybian

http://ee.tut.fi/~no04956/sybian.html
Anyone familiar with this $1,400 machine will enjoy this site. Even though this is clearly a commercial site, their articles, especially the testimonials are interesting. This site is very professionally done, although the gifs are limited. Warning: unless you can afford their product don't let your wife know about this because she will never stop asking for a Christmas Sybian.

Fredericks of Hollywood

http://www.fredericks.com
Frederick might be a huge man in lingerie but he's a little guy on the web. The site has only one picture (albeit good) but the links only allow you two things. You can register for their catalog, delivered by mail (how old-fashioned), or find out where Frederick's products are sold in your area (yawn).

InterSex City

http://zoom.lm.com/
Dubbed the Internet's largest sex site, it's probably not, but worth a visit. Check on the offerings here, ranging from products to photos.

MISCELLANEOUS

First Virtual Account

http://www.fv.com
First Virtual. Don't leave home without it. Online, giving out your credit card info is like throwing money from your car window. FV has removed the need for any other online credit. A First Virtual account gets you access to make purchase on line. So, contact FV and get the type of freedom only money can buy. On the downside, the people at FV had the right idea first, so, sadly, they are now overbooked. Expect a couple of days to get your account processed.

High Society Presents Hot Wire
Hybrid

There are several magazines available on CD-ROM but, to date, there have been no actual men's magazines published in the format—until now.

The folks at High Society are attempting to build on their magazine's success by publishing a digizine called Hot Wire. And while Hot Wire may not have the flash and special effects of some of the other digizines, it does offer lots of nudity and video clips of sexy women.

The cover of the CD doubles as the table of contents and offers five sections, including still and video clips in the Centerspread Jet-Set, bedtime stories from models, hot talk from sexy women and a pretty tame fetish video section called the Toychest. (HINT: Be sure to click on the balloon at the far right of the screen.) There is also a Bonus Spring Break section featuring video clips and stills of some of High Society's sexiest models shown entertaining spring breakers.

This disk takes only a minute to install and the push-button-style menu is a breeze to use. The menu has a couple of extra buttons that you may also find interesting. The panic button is great, and gives you a fake expense report which has an active "Do you want to continue?" option. There is also a moan button which allows you to hear the sexy voice of the woman of your dreams. The sound in this CD is exceptional but the video quality is a bit grainy. However, the still shots have the same glossy finish as the newsstand publication.

If you're seeking a very entertaining alternative to looking at a hard copy men's magazine, then grab this Hot Wire and watch the sparks fly.

Designer Bodies
Hybrid

Ever wonder what it would be like to be able to enhance a woman's attributes with just the touch of a button? Well, now you can and you don't have to be a plastic surgeon.

Designer Bodies gives you the chance to construct the perfect female by providing you with a rough sketch of a woman and then giving you buttons that change certain physical characteristics. You can change her hair color, voice or even the color of her skin.

Should you come across the right button, you might even be able to see your dream girl come to life (on screen, at least). One button you won't find on this fun-to-play game is a hardcore switch: Designer Bodies is R-rated.

This disk is easy to install and all of the production qualities are flawless. The pictures are crisp and the resolution is clean. Even the sound is extraordinary.

Some may be put-off by the R-rated material, but if you have a Vivid imagination this CD-ROM is just as good as some X-rated stuff.

Sensuous Girls In 3D
Hybrid

If you have ever wanted to reach out and touch the private parts of that busty beauty on your monitor, here's your chance— sort of.

Romsoft has combined the "best"(said with sarcasm) of both worlds with this mix of modern technology and nostalgic novelty. The manufacturers were even nice enough to provide viewers with a pair of those stylish red-green paper-and-plastic glasses that have kept eye doctors in business for years.

From a nostalgic standpoint, this title is a real trip down memory—and mammary—lane. The 3D aspect is just as bitchin' as it was in the 50's (and the pictures are almost as old).

If you buy this title thinking you're going to see a 3D adult movie, you'll be disappointed: Sensuous Girls in 3D is just a stereoscopic photo album of beautiful women. There are plenty of good R-rated pictures of sexy women in indoor and outdoor settings. Unfortunately, the quantity and quality are not balanced. A large percentage of the pictures on this disk suffer from lighting problems which distort the color.

This CD-ROM will definitely bring back a lot of memories, but in today's cybersex world, it does very little to create them. Sensuous Girls in Smell-o-Vision...now there's an idea!

ADDED DIMENSIONS: Designer Bodies by Vivid Interactive gives you the opportunity to make modifications to three different women. If you are looking for some eye-popping graphics, check out the photos of Sensuous Women in 3D.*

The Erotic Eighties

Some folks might laugh at the idea of becoming nostalgic about the adult entertainment world of the past. But those same people probably don't remember how exciting it was to watch such stars as Amber Lynn in action.

The Erotic Eighties is an exciting look back at one of the greatest eras in adult entertainment and some of the stars who made it so great.

Jim Holiday and Dierdra Holland take you behind the cameras to discuss porn legends like Erica Boyer, Amber Lynn, Barbara Dare and Nina Hartley. And with adult talent like that, you shouldn't be surprised to know that the sex is some of the hottest you'll find on CD-ROM.

This disk is easy to load and features 10 scorching scenes. Every scene is divided into three parts: a setup of the scene, an oral sex scene and, of course, hardcore sex. The VCR-like interface allows you to manipulate the movie easily and skip to your favorite part of each scene. The resolution is movie- quality for the most part, but tends to be slightly grainy in some places.

Whether you are nostalgic for the past or just want to see porn at its best, you'll enjoy the Erotic Eighties. It's almost as much fun as being there.

Leisure Time has once again advanced the world of cybersex. You will love this disk the first time you slide it in and the next hundred times you use it. This CD-ROM is a snap to run and is driven by an interface set up in a detailed but easy-to-use menu. It will be hard to find a better disk that runs this good on slower machines.

The menu allows you to choose from a wide variety of sexy, slutty women doing all sorts of nasty things. There are redheads, blondes, brunettes and Asians, and they do everything from masturbation to double penetration.

Just like the title implies, all you really have to do with this disk is pop it in and enjoy!

Usually when strip poker is played on adult CD-ROM, you can expect one of two scenarios: one, the beautiful woman sitting across from you is really a card shark who wants to humiliate you or two, the beautiful woman sitting across from you is so easy to beat that it would be more challenging to play 52-pick-up!

Club 21 is not your typical strip poker CD-ROM for several reasons, primarily because it deals from the top of the deck and keeps the card table level for both sides.

As you enter the club, you're greeted by a lovely tour guide who leads you into a virtual gaming room. Here you'll find all the comforts of any plush Las Vegas casino, plus some benefits even high-rollers don't get.

Take a look around before you settle down to play Black Jack. You never know what surprises you may find. Once you have explored the room and are comfortable in your seat, the dealer will start the game.

The rules are simple and the stakes make things very interesting. If you beat the house, leave the table and choose your reward. After the show you will be escorted to the next level with higher stakes.

Vivid is one of the premiere producers of adult CD-ROMs, but they really pulled out all the stops with this title. The graphics are high-caliber and you will be pleasantly surprised at how easy this disk is to load and run.

Club 21 has the class, style and look of the best Vegas has to offer, combined with plenty of sex. This interactive game is aces!

Where in North America Are Dick and Jane?

What "Where In The World Is Carmen San Diego?" is to world geography," Where in North America Are Dick and Jane?" is to sex education.

For those unfamiliar with "Carmen," it is a popular TV game show for younger viewers. The object of the show is to answer geography questions correctly in order to obtain clues about the whereabouts of criminal mastermind Carmen San Diego.

Dick and Jane follows the same format, only the object is to find Dick and Jane. Don't worry though: you don't have to know things like "What is the capital of Italy?" or "What three countries border Sweden?"

Players are given a hint as to where they might locate Dick and Jane. Guess correctly (it's hard not to) and be magically whisked away to that spot and watch as Dick and Jane convince a lucky couple that four is better than two.

This game can be loaded quickly and with ease and provides seamless continuity of action. The graphics are superb and the action is hot. Don't buy this title thinking you're going to get a challenging game with some sex on the side. What you really get is a hell of an adult CD-ROM with a fun game thrown in to keep you from drooling on the keyboard.

The only geography anyone needs to know for this CD-ROM is where to find the disk and how to slip it in your computer!

GAMES PEOPLE PLAY: If you enjoy games of chance then you may want to visit Club 21 (above). Play your cards right and you could get a private performance from a Vivid girl. If you find geography more challenging, then try to find Dick and Jane. Answer geography question correctly and you may get an anatomy*

Open these doors of passion and there is no telling what you may find: sex, photos and even jokes. Behind every door lies some kind of interesting sex act, but the secret is to keep clicking. There are literally hundreds of movies, stills, jokes and who- knows-what hidden on this disk.

One of the best aspects of this title is that when you retrace your steps and open doors you may have already looked behind, you may find something different from what you encountered the first time.

Romsoft should be commended for this CD. They have joined high-quality material with a format that is fun to play and watch. This disk features either full installation or the choice of adding an icon to Windows and playing from the disk. Either way you will get great resolution and so much sexy content that you will want to visit here again and again.

DOUBLE DOWN
Hybrid

This title may or may not earn any outside awards, but it is a winner nevertheless.

Double Down is the story of one man's greed as he tries to run a scam on an Atlantic City casino. John is a self-possessed man who uses everyone around him to get ahead. He uses women as if they were shoes and talks to his friends as if they were servants. He's such a good villain that you can't wait for the gambling commission to bust him.

This is one of the finest disks on the market, both for story and production values. The plot is interesting and the technical aspects are impeccable. The acting is even a notch above the usual adult levels. Oh, yeah, the sex is great, too, and this disk loads effortlessly in a matter of seconds.

You can't lose when you Double Down. This CD-ROM is sure to be another moneymaker for Romsoft.

No, this is not a guided tour of Graceland and, unfortunately, it's also not an X-rated tale of the King's many queens.

Elvis Slept Here is the title of the newspaper article that will save reporter Worm Jenkins' job at the International Star. You see, Worm is competing with a beautiful, young female writer for the last position on staff, and whoever comes back with the best scoop in 24 hours wins.

While the concept of the story may sound entertaining, the actual execution unfortunately falls short of accomplishing either goal.

The production quality is professional but the dialogue is very bad, even for adult entertainment, which makes this transfer to CD-ROM a questionable move. There are many other titles that would have made better CD-ROMs.

Granted, no one really buys adult entertainment for its soliloquies, but when the spoken word makes you physically cringe it's time to turn down the volume and just enjoy the sex.

Elvis Slept Here ain't nothin' but a hound dog whose bark is definitely worse than his bite.

Heidi's Girls: The X Volume Exposed
Hybrid

Hollywood madame Heidi Fleiss made headlines awhile back and now Ivan Nagy, her former producer, is trying to make a few bucks on her infamy.

Nagy has brought together four women who are supposedly Heidi's Girls. While this CD-ROM is titled the X Volume Exposed, the only skin these models are willing to show are their bare breasts.

And what about the madame herself? Well, she doesn't actually appear in the disk, but you do get to hear her sexy-sounding voice a few times.

The picture quality is above average, but technical problems drag this disk down from the start. Chances are very good that you will have problems with the setup process. (It took six attempts before we were successful.) Another drawback is the video section. Don't expect any real-time clips of these wicked women. The video is actually a camera briefly panning over the stills.

We won't go so far as to say that this title is a total scam and a rip-off, but it is certainly not worth spending a lot of money on. You might do better to wait for Heidi to release her own X-rated CD-ROM starring Charlie Sheen, of course! No sense in getting screwed by anyone except the mistress herself.

Massive Melons
Hybrid

It's refreshing to occasionally find truth in advertising in adult entertainment products.

The title of this Romsoft CD-ROM tells you everything you need to know about the women it features. These gals are the epitome of massive melons, and if you are not already a fan of big-bust stars Kimberly Kupps or Melissa Mounds, you probably will be before the end of this one.

The busty babes are hidden away throughout a house and all you have to do is find them. Once you find a huge-hootered honey simply click on her and sit back and enjoy the show.

There are six women in all and each has her own library of stills featuring some very seductive poses. There is also a brief narration about each model. When you encounter a woman on this disk, you also have the unique option of selecting from a sub-menu, which part of the action you want to watch first.

The video quality is unbeatable and the still shots are better than in some hard copy magazines.

The melons on these big-bust stars may not be all-natural, but their looks sure do stack up against all the others. Besides, no matter what they are made of, these big melons are mouth-watering!

HEIDI'S HAREM: Ever wonder what's inside Hollywood madam Heidi Fleiss' address book? In the CD-ROM version you'll find plenty of sexy pictures of the women who helped make Heidi famous, uh, infamous.*

MELON MANOR: The occupants of this massive mansion are busting to show visitors a good time. Some of the big-breasted babes who bare all are Angel Bust, Kimberlee Kupps and Melissa Mounds.*

Private Screenings
Hybrid

It's a shame when a little more time or effort isn't given to a good idea in order to turn it into an exceptional product. Such is the case with Private Screening.

Romsoft had an idea to select about 20 different women for a nude photo session and then let you watch it all. Sounds great, doesn't it?

Things start off promisingly as the models give their ages and measurements and then pose. Unfortunately, that's about as far as it goes. The camera briefly pans up and down the model's body and then moves on to the next girl.

Technically speaking, this disk meets Romsoft's high standards of excellence. The pictures are crisp and the sound is clear. The movie quality is good, but could more attention could have been paid to the contrast. All in all, this disk is very well put together. Its only drawback is that it should have provided longer visits with each model.

Spin The Bottle
Hybrid

You may not know this version of the old game spin the bottle (and, quite frankly, neither do we), but if this is the way it's played nowadays, count us in.

The folks at Vivid have taken everybody's favorite kissing game and transformed it into a great adult game.

You get to choose different degrees of passion with each spin of the bottle. Be careful, though: just like on a first date, you can't go all the way on your first spin. It's best to start with a smoldering kiss and then make your way slowly through the other levels, including oral sex (giving and receiving) and intercourse. There are four different women sitting around the table, so take your time and try to kiss them all before you attempt to go all the way with one of them.

Vivid continues to deliver high-quality products with great technical values. This game has both excellent sound and superior graphics. There are a few sequences, however, in which the colors in the video bleed into each other. This is by no means a big problem, but it does keep this CD-ROM from being perfect.

If you think a kiss is still a kiss, wait until you play Spin the Bottle with the women of Vivid!

TAIL SPIN: This high tech version of the parlor game offers a few perks that weren't part of the original. You pick your pleasure from the menu (above) and spin the bottle. If the bottle points your way then you get to preview you preferred pleasure.

Even if your name isn't Tom and you have never had an urge to peep on your neighbors, this CD-ROM may make you reconsider how you spend your free evenings.

Touch Me...Feel Me is a voyeuristic voyage behind the venetian blinds of two women next door. You are privy to almost every aspect of their lives, from how they eat to how they spend their quiet evenings. People with backstage passes to a Madonna concert don't get to see this much!

So why is it called Touch Me...Feel Me? Simple. There are five erogenous zones on each woman and you must figure out just which spot on their bodies excite them the most.

This Romsoft title has excellent production values, including amazing color and quality graphics. Another bonus is a rather voluminous still photo section full of high-resolution pictures.

Touch Me...Feel Me will certainly leave viewers wanting more, and although you may not get to actually feel the women in this CD-ROM, you will most likely be touched in other satisfying ways.

Is your girlfriend a nag? Does she complain when you want to go out with the guys and have a good time? Have you thought about making a change?

If your answer to any of these questions is yes, then you may want to consider the virtual companion known as Girlfriend Tracy.

You won't find any flannel pajamas or terry cloth robes in Tracy's closet. Her main desire is to please you and that's exactly what this disk does.

While Girlfriend Tracy may be a good substitute for a more run-of-the-mill girlfriend, she can be a little hard to handle at first. Sound familiar?

The installation process of this title is a tad confusing, but with a little effort you will be on your way to more virtual bedroom action than you ever thought possible with a real woman.

The graphics on this disk could use some work. They are slow and a bit jerky and the color is off in places. The sound is also below average. Even so, this title's unique format makes all of the minor technical glitches bearable.

This is one girlfriend you won't mind having around. And if you get tired of her, just take her out and put her back in the box.

BUILD YOUR OWN WEB PAGE

Article by Dennis Sokol

If you're thinking about joining the big guys and building your own Home Page on the Net, here are some basic guidelines to start you on your way, or, to make you think twice about trying to do the job yourself.

For the novice or uninitiated, getting a Web Page published on the Internet can be a very confusing and frustrating experience. By design, the Internet is a loosely connected web of computers throughout the world. While there are several different components of the Internet, we will discuss only the World Wide Web ("Web") portion. A "Web Page" is a document which can include both text and graphic images and is placed on a computer connected to the Internet (Server). This is where individuals and companies can advertise, publish and do business with each other.

In order to establish (publish) a Web Page and use it successfully, you must either have substantial knowledge of how the Internet is constructed, including its working mechanisms, or you must find someone with that knowledge to do the work for you. We're going to assume that you fall into the former category, either for financial considerations (hiring someone to set up your Web Page can be expensive) or because you want to learn how to do the work yourself. So, we're going to attempt to provide you with the most important concepts and acquaint you with some of the terms and tools you will need to publish your own Web Page. We'll also discuss, to a small degree, about having one of the commercial companies publish your Web Page for you, in case you change your mind somewhere in mid-stream.

If you've decided to get on the Internet and publish your own Web Page (also called "Home Page") and you want to do it yourself, the first things you need are the tools to construct the page. In order to have others on the Internet be able to see your document, in the way you composed it, you must write your document in a special format called HyperText Markup Language (HTML). HTML is kind of a cross between a word processor and a desktop publishing program and is the language which a Web Browser used to display a Web Page document.

In order to save time when information (data) is sent over the Internet, the Web Page that you created in the HTML language is taken apart and sent as raw data. When it is received at the viewers computer, their Web Browser re-creates your Web Page.

There are several different Web Browsers. The most common is Netscape Navigator and it can either be purchased from a local computer store or downloaded for free on the Internet. Any of the Web Browsers will work, but the problem is that, since the data is sent over the Internet it its raw form and interpreted by the Web Browser, sometimes the Web Page appears different, depending on which Web Browser is being used. Almost everyone creates their Web Page documents to match the Netscape Navigator software and we therefore recommend that you use it and create your Web Page document to Netscape parameters.

Once you have mastered (or at least survived) the learning process of HTML, it is time to construct your Web Page document:

Using the HTML editor, you can compose the document using text, graphic images, etc. There is no limit on how much text, or what size graphics or pictures you can use. However, here we need to discuss designing the Web Page so that the person viewing it does not have to wait and stare at a blank screen for long periods while the data is being received on their computer (called "down loading"). You see, computer users are very impatient people for the most part. Nothing turns them off quicker than having to wait and wait for the page to be loaded into their computer. So, creating a document that loads quickly is a major consideration. You can shorten the loading time by limiting the size of graphic images and by creating one master document and many sub-documents that are "linked" to the master document. The linked documents do not load onto the viewer's computer until the viewer asks for them by "clicking" on an icon (graphic image) or on highlighted text (HyperText) in let us assume that you have created your Web Page document on your personal system. We are assuming that you already knew, before you reached this point, what your Web Page was going to consist of. If you were puzzled, hopefully your browsed the Web and looked at a few hundred other Web Pages to get an idea of not only the great variety of adult topics that are already on the World Wide Web, but how others had constructed their pages, including sub-documents. Next, you have to get your page onto the Internet so that it can be seen. In order to do this, you must be connected to the Internet and have space available on an Internet Server to store your Web Page document. There are numerous companies providing Dial-up Internet access services. Getting connected to your Dial-Up service provider requires some technical knowledge (which most service providers will give you as part of your installation), as well as a whole lot of patience! Right now, getting connected can be a big difficult. Simplified software installation programs are being developed, but as of now, most service providers have their own setup systems.

The best place to find listings of Dial-Up service providers is in your local newspaper or in computer magazines. Most Yellow Pages do not yet have an Internet section, but new issues will have sections specifically for Internet service providers. Three words of caution: BE VERY CAREFUL when choosing your Internet service provider. Some companies have a lot of hidden charges to store your Web Page or to charge you extra if more than a certain number of people want to access your Web Page! Reputable companies will give you your own area on their server where you can store your Web Page document. Ask any provider to give you a written list of all of their charges and if they won't provide one, keep looking. Also, if your Web Page has adult material, which we're assuming it will have since you're reading Adult PC Guide, make sure that the provider has no problem with your material.

Once you have your Dial-Up service and you have verified that they will give you space to store and publish your Web Page document, you must transfer your Web Page document from your computer to the Internet Server. The method of transferring your Web Page to the Server is usually a simple process, but each service provider does it differently. You will have to find out exactly how this works on their server.

In theory, this is about all you need to do in order to publish your Web Page. Your document is now on the Internet Server and available to anyone who happens to come across it or wants to access it. In reality though, no one, except people you give your web site address to, will ever see your Web Page. So, in order for you to make your Web Page available to a maximum number of people, there is still work to do. This is extremely important if you are trying to advertise and sell something...anything from products to publications.

The next step, therefore, is to let people know that your Web Page is out there. There are several methods that you can use. Sending E-Mail to individuals or members of usenet groups is one way, but the problem here is that you still have to contact potential viewers. Those you miss will probably never know that your Web Page exists. Contacting these groups and individuals is a relatively easy process once you know how to join usenet groups and "surf" the net to locate the groups you want to notify. E-Mail capabilities are included in these groups and it is easy to send your message to everyone in a particular group with a simple click of your mouse. However, when you consider that there are approximately 30 million users and literally thousands of usenet groups on the Internet, this becomes a very big job!

Most viewers looking for information on the World Wide Web use one of several "search engines" to locate Web Pages that contain the information they are looking for. These search engines have a stored database of Web Pages and their contents. They use key words to describe what is on a Web Page document. You can contact these different search engine companies and request that your information be stored in their database. If they accept your information, your Web Page document location will now be provided to anyone using that search engine to locate the type of information you have in your Web Page. Obviously, the more search engines you register your Web Page document with, the more chance you have of being seen by someone on the Internet.

Some of the most popular Web Sites providing search engines are Yahoo, Lycos, World Wide Web Browser and Web Crawler. When someone contacts one of these search engines, they enter the keywords they want to use for their search and the search engine finds all of the Web Page document locations that they have stored in their database and displays them to the searcher with HyperText links. The searcher can then "click" on the HyperText and go immediately to that Web Page document. Using one of these search engines is simple and free of charge. Getting listed with them is also usually done at no charge. However, some of the bigger and most popular sites are now beginning to charge for their listings.

Accomplish the above and, at last, your Web Page document is out there and others can see it. You are finished! No? No, not quite yet. If you want any type of response or interaction with those who view your Web Page document, you still have one more mountain to climb. You could have included a telephone number or snail mail (U.S.Postal Service) address in your Web Page document, but if you want interactive Internet response you will need to set up E-Mail services and some type of response form as a sub-document to your Web Page. You will also need to make sure that your Internet Dial-Up provider has E-Mail service available for you.

This is about as far as you can go on your own with a Dial-Up Internet access account. As you can see, publishing a Web Page document on the Internet is not a simple process. For the computer nerd or someone who wants to invest the time in learning this process, it can be a fun learning experience. For the rest of us it can be the project from hell.

There is another way to get your Web Page document published on the Internet without having to go through the experiences I've already discussed. That is to have a professional company do all the work for you. Right now, there are numerous companies providing Internet Web Page publishing services, and the list is growing all the time. Most companies will work with you to create your Web Page concept, develop the page and publish it on the Internet Server. Usually they will register your Web Page with the search engines for little or no additional cost. Some companies require Dial-Up access and some do not. E-Mail services are also usually included in basic services.

Most companies charge for their creative services, an additional Web site setup fee, and a monthly fee to maintain your site and Web Page document. This may not be as expensive as you think. You do not have to purchase development tools or invest any time in learning the software or Internet concepts, etc. You can have your Web Page on the Internet in a matter of days instead of weeks (or maybe months.) If you value your personal time, then using an outside company to publish your Web Page may be your best choice. Companies like Hi-Tech Assistance Corp. in Ft. Lauderdale, Florida use state-of-the-art tools and have professional design, artistic and creative services available to their clients.

There are also other services that the professional companies can provide, such as immediately forwarding E-Mail responses to your E-Mail address or FAX machine, gathering data on who is looking at your Web Page and providing response form data collection and reporting. In a business situation, the moving of data (downloading) to your computer system automatically, taking customer orders and doing (secure) credit card processing, and even bringing your computer system on-line to the Internet are easily accomplished by the professional providers.

Costs for professional services vary greatly and are dependent on the amount of services you will want or need. For the individual or company that wants to get a Web Page document created and published on the internet and does not have the technical knowledge or does not want to invest the time in doing this, using a professional outside service provides almost immediate access to the benefits of the Internet.

The World Wide Web is an exciting, rapidly changing, and growing part of the Internet. In the coming months, individuals and businesses are going to continue to turn to the Internet as the central place for gathering and distributing information. More and more, people will be using the Internet World Wide Web as an integral and necessary part of their daily lives.

If you have the need or desire to get your information published to a world-wide audience, the Internet's World Wide Web is the newest, quickest, and cheapest way of doing it.

Good luck and good "surfing!"

OFF LINE

Software and hardware material on the internet boggling pace. Here are there and get you off fas

From high-tech 3d glasses and videos, to "old-fashioned" hard copy books advising us about everything from surfing the net to building and maintaining a successful bbs, new developments in hardware and software for the person hooked into the web continues to come on line at a truly mind-boggling pace. Browsing through all of the available advertising and literature, a few items of more than passing interest catch our eye. Following are those aids and abettors which we hope might make your access and enjoyment of adult material easier and more exciting.

Doug Shaker's "Beginner's Luck" column details some hapless misadventures and horror stories of BBS management by a neophyte sysop. With this book, ignorance is no excuse. BBS operation is never foolproof ("because fools are so ingenious") but this book will fill your brain with the most state-of-the art-knowledge available on this exciting endeavor. We suggest you buy it before you start your bbs.
